

Aakash Arasu

Cartoons Boi

PROFILE

Telling stories and joking since forever, I started with outright lies, creating juvenile gossip, for no reason in primary school, but later moved on to real life incidents with a bit of trademark masala. Being funny was my weapon against bullies and social awkwardness for most of my life. In recent years however, I've moved away from these social performances. I have, instead, been creating my own stories and nurturing my love for the silly and absurd for the whole world to experience in the form of cartoons and comics.
